BIRD

LIVES

"The Bird Lives"

. . . these words of wisdom bounced off the walls at an early fall pep assembly. In time this slogan meant everything to some students and unfortunately nothing to others. Those who kept the bird alive, whether it be through their strain during a pole vault, curiosity concerning a gas experiment in science class, or never ending efforts involved in portraying a gangster of the 30's at the Chili Dinner, have captured a piece of the bird in their soul. The faculty has also fought to keep the blood of the bird flowing smoothly. One teacher will not forget creeping on beams above the pool to add final touches to a Dollfin-nette show. Nor will a few forget the emptiness of a band room without its music. None will ever forget how "The Bird Lives!"

"The Bird Lives" . . .

outside of school as well as behind Jeff's doors. Extracurricular activities ranging from football games to picketing Spiro Agnew at a congressional rally held student interest throughout the year. Hundreds of students and alumni crowded into the cafeteria to enjoy the sounds of an unforgettable Homecoming dance. As usual, when midnight came only a small crew remained behind to help with the clean-up details. Few will forget the tired feet, blaring amplifiers, and beating drums of the many mixers and none will forget the excitement of that last football game. And who could possibly forget the presence of the dancing horse at the conclusion of infrequent pep assemblies? These were memorable activities not easily forgotten when reflecting upon the past year since "The Bird DOES Live."

Everything came up roses, a crown, smiles, royalty, and a Homecoming queen.

Escort John Burke lends a helping hand to finalist Janet Shedeck.

Excitement reigned high at Kingston Stadium Friday night, October 16. Crowds anxiously watched as Roger Miller, Student Council president, placed the crown upon the 1970 queen, Janet Shedeck. In honor of this special occasion, the band swung into a crown formation and played "Everything's Coming Up Roses." The nine finalists were announced by Mr. Robert Geuder, master of ceremonies, as they rode around the track in Corvettes. Lettermen representing each sport escorted the nine finalists onto the field to await the decisive moment.

A big sigh, thunderous applause, and the 1970 queen begins her reign.

Marsha readjusts Janet's crown as Roger Miller applauds her selection.

Amy Koepke and Timmy Hoffman assisted 1969 queen Marsha Stary in coronation ceremonies.

Roger Miller adjusts the mike as Jenine Stastny nervously awaits her turn to speak.

Student involvement to Women's Liberation, Vietnam, and school policy . . . these were the varied topics of the impromptu question-answer time involving the nine finalists following their selection October 9. Seven days elapsed while candidates worried, committees decorated, and chairmen completed last minute details. The big night finally arrived and the J-Hawks made a grand entrance as they raced through the decorated hoop on their way to a 41-0 win over Iowa City West. Sounds of "The Reformation," a local band, supplied music and a special arrangement of the 1970 theme, "Close to You," for the dance Saturday evening. A record-breaking crowd, including many alumni, attended the dance. Couples entering the dance by way of a gazebo were instantly aware of the new look in fashions from mini to maxi which varied from traditional Homecoming attire.

Checking the supports on the gazebo, Kurt Carlson prepares for the evening's festivities.

Mini to maxi fashions in wool, suede, and velvet added color to the dance Saturday evening, "Close to You."

Bursting through the hoop, the J-Hawks went on to stomp the Trojans of Iowa City West.

Barb Walters and Marti Decker view the dance from a different angle.

Seniors selected these twenty-five semi-finalists. First row: Sandy Bennett, Becky Ask, Kathy Carstens, Denise Dauenbaugh. Second row: Roberta Kintzel, Peggy Knutson, Sherry Lutz, Cris Huber, Becky Keown. Third row: Pam Fritz, Kris Fleck, Kerry Hood, Joan Mitchell, Barb Otten. Fourth row: Nancy Powell, Debbie Shirm, Jan Shedeck, Barb Van Slyke, Jeannine Snyder. Fifth row: Jenine Stastny, Carol Steggal, Dixie Spoon, Jennifer Wells, Debbie Wheeler. Not pictured: Kristi Carlson.

Queen Janet

25 . . . 9 . . . 1.

From these numbers came the 1970 Homecoming queen Janet Shedeck. September 30 began the countdown when seniors nominated 25 semi-finalists. Thursday these 25 candidates were announced during the Clinton pep assembly. Tension mounted. The eight hectic days that followed climaxed when juniors and seniors cast their votes for the nine finalists. Announcement of the nine girls highlighted the Dubuque pep assembly, October 9. Tradition fell when the entire student body voted for two candidates in order to prevent a landslide election of one girl. The task of counting ballots was given to a junior committee assisted by Mrs. Nancy Jass, activities office secretary.

resulting from Jefferson's liberalized policies.

Band carnival candidates were caught "monkeying around" in Morgan Creek Park.

Royalty elected by the people who attended the carnival were Bev Stary and Dave Kuenzi, sophomores; Connie Filling and Terry Vik, juniors; and Denise Dauenbaugh and Kevin Wade, seniors.

There's always room for jello—unless you have already had your fill.

Band Carnival 1971 was highlighted by games, concerts, a mixer, and royalty. Games including ring toss, bean bag, and a cake walk helped to purchase much needed additional band uniforms. An auction, with merchandise provided by local merchants, sold radios, gasoline, and dinners at restaurants to the highest bidders. A pie throw, featuring "famous Jefferson people" as targets, provided hilarity for carnival-goers. Rounding out an active year, band members marched in the 25th annual Eastern Iowa Band Festival in May. Martha Steele was chosen to represent Jefferson as their band queen this year.

Jeff's band was one of 40 units that marched in the downtown parade.

"Where Do I Begin"

—a popular "Love Story" phrase was selected by Senior Senate members as this year's prom theme. Changing fashion trends called for a less formal prom, but voting among senior boys upheld the dressy tux. Springy flowers of hot pink, lime green, and lemon yellow created a gala setting at the Town House Motor Inn. The after-the-prom party at the Teamster's Hall from 1:30-4 a.m. was the end to a perfectly wonderful evening for couples.

After a strenuous evening of dancing, Kathy Carstens and Vern Staskal pause to talk during intermission.

Seniors donned casual attire for the after-the-prom party.

The "Flaming Groovies" staged an audience sing-a-long during the class day skit.

Class Day is an annual event set aside to announce the class scholars, recognize outstanding seniors, and present the class skit. Principal William Peterson stepped to the platform to announce that Steve Mineck and Gary Molander were the top two seniors scholastically this year. Various awards were then presented including the Linn County Civitan Essay Award to Bob Wilson, the Arion Band Award to Nancy Rawson, and the Athlete of the Year Honor to Brad Trickey. A skit entitled "Please Disregard the Fire Alarm" was written and produced by class members. This year's gift to the school was a plaque inscribed with "Home of the J-Hawks" to hang in the gym.

"Spirit of 71" had a special meaning to seniors Julie and Jerry Edmunds.

I do my thing, and you do your thing.
I am not in this world to live up to your expectations
And you are not in this world to live up to mine.
You are you and I am I,
And if by chance we find each other, it's beautiful.

A setting sun cast its spell upon the largest Jefferson graduating class.

"Teach your parents well . . ." was Chris Quinn's challenge to the 1971 graduates.

HALLELUJAH!

June 8 marked the final day of thirteen years as seniors marched to "Pomp and Circumstance" before receiving diplomas from Principal William P. Peterson. The theme "Profile for Change" conveyed seniors outlook on the world. Seniors Steve Mineck, Gary Molander, Chris Quinn, and Nancy Rawson were selected to address the graduating class. Concert choir completed the message by singing "Bridge Over Troubled Water" and "We've Only Just Begun." An afternoon practice included final details in order to prepare seniors for the 8 p.m. ceremony. One by one the 596 seniors received their diplomas and each walked away with a tear, a smile, or a sigh of relief.

Seniors watched their classmates walk across the stage to accept their diplomas.

Friends congratulate Dominee LeVasseur after the ceremony.

Diana Patten proudly clutches her diploma as she leaves the stage.

"Pomp and Circumstance" was played by the band as the future graduates marched to their seats.

Senior Class President Dan Conway introduced Superintendent Craig Currie.

Kathy Abbott was the first member of her class to officially graduate.

The head, portrayed by David Makinister, surprises Peter.

Guard Bob Dunn confronts the two minstrels at the entrance to the baroness' castle.

"The point is, will Schlafnicht care for you?" asks the witch of Peter.

Hectic hours of rehearsal paid off as "Trudi and the Minstrel" was enjoyed by over 7,000 elementary students in October. This year's Children's Theatre performance ran for three consecutive days at Coe's Sinclair Auditorium. The plot centered on a magic ring which was thrown into the ocean by an evil Baroness (Debby Larson). The loss of this magic ring prohibited Trudi (Maureen Sullivan) from seeing Siegfried, her husband, (Steve Haerther) and Peter, her best friend, (Dan Long). A mermaid (Karyllyn Kaplan) retrieves the ring from the ocean and gives it to Peter. He returns it to Trudi and the play ends happily ever after since they can see each other again.

Brother Innocence, Peter Ludwick, receives words of encouragement from the Baron, Mark Short.

Bobbin (Gib Ziemer) displays his true self to the audience upon being pushed off the bench by Fadinard (Terry Vik).

"Eh? I can't seem to hear you son," states Vezinet (Mike James).

Fadinard (Terry Vik) plots his next move in search of the hat.

"The Chase is a hilarious one and takes the group to a former girl friend, a jealous husband, a city jail, and an elegant social gathering." This is the way Mr. Robert Geuder, director, explained the fall play, "An Italian Straw Hat." The story is labeled a French farce and centers on the escapades of a young man searching for a straw hat. The entire play takes place on Fadinard's wedding day. Fadinard, played by Terry Vik, has a horse who happens to devour a ladies straw hat. The woman insists he find her an identical hat immediately, because she can't return to her jealous husband without it. Fadinard sets out to look for the hat and is chased all over Paris by Helene, his bride-to-be, and Nonancourt, her father, portrayed by Vickie Weber and Steve Burk respectively. Written by LaBiche and Michel, "An Italian Straw Hat" is a play with music; it has songs woven throughout with soloists as well as a chorus. The songs are used to comment on the plot. "An Italian Straw Hat" was performed in the Little Theatre on a thrust stage and the set was done predominantly in blues and greens which changed with each scene.

"You must have thought me very indiscreet . . .," exclaims Fadinard to the Baroness (Julie Heldt).

Virginie (Sandy Bennet) shuns the amorous affections of Felix (Dan Diamond).

"Let me go," cries Bobbin. "We've got to be on our way to find Fadinard."

Ko-Ko, Pish-Tush, and Pooh-Bah reveal their sentiments concerning the village of Titipu and its ruler, the Mikado.

During a blocking rehearsal, Miss Sharon Mich, director, corrects an actor's entrance.

"Mikado", a Japanese musical, was presented January 28 and 30 by a cast and chorus of 100 sophomores selected from mixed chorus. It is the tale of the wandering minstrel, Nanki-Poo (Steve Graham), who comes to the town of Titipu in search of his childhood sweetheart, Yum-Yum (Sherri Hildebrand). There he is confronted by a trio of comic renegades, Pish-Tush (Mike Pfeffer), Pooh-Bah (Jim Hiding), and Ko-Ko (Dan Long), the Lord High Executioner of Titipu. Then on the scene comes Katisha (Karen Gesme), an overpowering matron of the Mikado's court, who claims that Nanki-Poo has been promised to her. The events that follow build to an unexpected climax and the musical concludes on a happy note.

Saturday night the cast received a standing ovation after the finale.

While Nanki-Poo and Yum-Yum dream about their future, Pish-Tush directs his attention to Pitti-Sing.

Ko-Ko soon finds that courting Ka-tisha is an unpleasant experience.

Peep-Bo (Sue Payne), Yum-Yum (Sherri Hildebrand), and Pitti-Sing (Patti Biederman) re-enact one of the "The Mikado's" many songs.

"Chopping wood ain't for witches!" states Marvin to Barbara and John.

A somber curtain call preserves the mood established during the performance.

Floyd Allen (Jeff Athey) relaxes as he sings a Smoky Mountain ballad.

Conjur Woman warns Witch Boy that Barbara must be faithful to him for a year or he will be turned back into a witch.

Uncle Smelicue (Craig Wishniewsky) tells of the robbery of Agnes Riddle's green ring.

"Dark of the Moon"

was presented by the fine arts department as this year's winter play. The play takes place in the Smoky Mountains. Witch Boy (Dan Diamond) is very much in love with Barbara Allen (Sandy Bennett). Since he is a witch, he must have permission to become human. However, Barbara must be faithful to him for a year, or he will become a witch again. Witch Boy finds Barbara at a dance with Marvin Hudgen (Steve Mineck). The entire population of Buck Creek tries to come between the two. "Their love is a strong one and adds to the realism of the play," according to Mr. Robert Geuder, director. Mike Sedore, student director, was in charge of the lighting which featured a variety of colors. "Its main purpose was to create an eerie and tense feeling in the witch scenes," commented Mr. Roger Meeker, technical director, "since a gloomy feeling needed to be created."

Hank (Dennis Jenereaux) and Edna (Martha Steele) ask for salvation at the revival.

"I just decided I don't like bourbon," protested Jeff.

Maggie (Linda Petrazlek) jealousy watches Harry and Jeanne dancing.

"Heather on the Hill" provided a picturesque view of Scotland, the scene for this year's spring musical, "Brigadoon." The story opens in McConnachy Square where Tommy (Bob Brumley) and Jeff (Dave Braumann) are lost in an eighteenth century town. As the plot develops, Harry (Terry Vik) falls in love with Jeanne (Joyce Niebuhr) who is going to marry Charlie (Mike Sedore). After Charlie and Jeanne's wedding, Harry challenges Charlie to a sword dance. Tommy and Jeff return to America but the thought of Fiona (Nancy Yost) remains in Tommy's mind. His love for Fiona makes the play memorable in the finale. Choreography was arranged by Mrs. JoAnn Holt for all but the sword dance which was done by Mr. Roger Meeker.

Tommy, Fiona, Angus, and Charlie raise a toast to Mr. Forsythe for postponing the miracle so that Charlie could marry Jeanne.

The citizens of Brigadoon congregate in McConnachy Square to celebrate Charlie and Jeanne's wedding.

"Come to me, bend to me . . ." sings Charlie to Jeanne.

"Aye laddie, you must really love her. You woke us up!"

Jeff is unsuccessful in trying to discourage Meg's eager advances.

Harry challenges Charlie to a traditional sword dance.

Selling tickets for "Brigadoon" earns Mike Graham Thespian membership points.

The entire population of Buck Creek joins in helping a member of the congregation to gain salvation in "Dark of the Moon."

Steve Haerther concentrates on building a stable platform for "Italian Straw Hat."

Directors Robert Geuder and Roger Meeker accept the Outstanding Performance Award for "Dark of the Moon."

Louann Watson received one of the nine $50 scholarships.

TAG Awards

culminated this year's efforts for many of Jeff's students involved in dramatic productions. The fourth annual drama recognition night was sponsored by the Community Theater Assistance Guild. For the second consecutive year, Jefferson's drama department was presented the Outstanding Production Award, this time for "Dark of the Moon." Two other awards and three scholarships were given to Jefferson students along with several honorable mentions. The scholarships for overall excellence in the theater were presented to Mike Sedore, Dan Dimond, and Louann Watson. Much of the work that goes into the preparation of a production is done backstage and is seldom recognized. Stage construction, costume design, and make-up technique give many students an opportunity to become more actively involved in Jeff's fine arts department.

Sandy Bennett is congratulated upon being named Best Actress as Meg in "Brigadoon."

Terry Vik as Preacher Haggler earned the Best Supporting Actor Award.

Fall, winter and spring appearances kept the concert choir busy with extra rehearsals before and after school. Members again shared the television spotlight with Kennedy and Washington choirs at Christmas to sing both religious and contemporary holiday tunes on WMT-TV. During spring vacation, the choir boarded buses and headed for Minneapolis and the surrounding suburbs for the annual spring tour. The group spent an exhausting four days performing for Minneapolis and St. Paul groups. Remaining time was either spent at the zoo, downtown shopping mall, at a Broadway show, "The Biggest Thief in Town," or in hotel rooms recuperating for the next performance. The annual spring festival this year was hosted by Kennedy in April. A bit of Scotland ended an active year as "Brigadoon" was cast as the spring musical. The cast party on the last night of the performance gave members a chance to sit back and recall the highlights of an eventful year.

"We are the West Side Delegation, . . . yes we're the white and blue come to sing for you, . . ." was the traditional opening of each performance. Fringed vests and a second half presentation were additions Delegation members instituted this year. Selections included songs ranging from "Both Sides Now" to a medley of "Georgy Girl," "Windy," and "Downtown." The year was highlighted by a trip to Grinnell when the pop group performed for a convention audience of over 1,000. Consisting of 25 members and 5 alternates, the West Side Delegation traveled throughout Iowa and bordering states with their director, Mr. Allen Koepke.

Girls Choir became the Hilltop singers this year along with new outfits replacing the usual choir robes, a new selection of songs, and more spirit. The renovated group also broke with tradition by performing in churches, at a junior high, and traveling to Des Moines one week-end to see "1776" at the KRNT Theatre. Mixed Chorus featured the largest number of participants in recent years. The group, composed of 60 members, had to be split up to form two classes because of a lack of seating space. In January, members worked hard on this year's sophomore musical, "The Mikado." Chorus members also sold candy to help raise money for the choir treasury.

Out of town presentations, a trip to St. Louis and junior high concerts were some of the orchestra's major activities this year. Four orchestra members, Denise Bassett, Sherri Flagg, Jeff Kint, and Kathleen Novak, achieved the honor of playing in the All-State Orchestra at Des Moines in November. These musicians, along with the rest of the members, sold fruit to raise money for their trip to St. Louis, Missouri. Three days were spent touring in and around St. Louis. The trip was highlighted by a baseball game between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Montreal Expos.

Candy, key chains, and bumper sticker sales were fund raising projects band members worked at to pay for extra uniforms for the 120 piece band. Along with the increase in size, another policy was adopted concerning attendance each day instead of allowing students to alternate gym with band. This helped to unify the band's practices as well as eliminated many 7:30 a.m. rehearsals. During the year, the concert band performed in the Christmas concert, at Ames High School while on tour, and at its spring concert April 23. The Wind Ensemble, a new group composed of the more accomplished musicians, was formed within the band this year to play more difficult musical selections.

'Attention!' was the word that brought the 100 members of the Jefferson marching band to their feet and ready to march onto the field. The adverse weather conditions limited the band's half time performances to two this season. However, a trip to Iowa State University at Ames for college band day provided an opportunity to see the Cyclones in action as well as to perform at half time. After last summer's trip to Winnipeg, Canada, the band began rehearsals in August with the first appearance only two weeks away. During the East Des Moines half time, the band gave a repeat performance of its Winnipeg show. Homecoming was the other half time at which the band marched playing "Close To You" and "Everything's Coming Up Roses."

With a 7-2-1 overall record and a 5-1-1 Valley mark, Coach Jack Fisk might be laughing on the outside, but after the 1969-70 Valley title that eluded his eighth ranked J-Hawks, he might also be crying on the inside. A 6-0 defeat at the hands of the Clinton River Kings October 1 virtually sealed Jeff's title hopes, although the Valley title wasn't decided until the final week of play. The J-Hawks returned home the next week against Wash and played in a constant rain and a sea of mud as the Warriors and J-Hawks battled to a 0-0 deadlock. To add insult to injury, the gridders were blanked by the Clinton River Kings the next weekend, 6-0. The Big Blue took to the road October 8 and brought a smile to Coach Jack Fisk's face with a 38-12 blasting of the Rams. That Jefferson steamroller kept on rolling as they whitewashed Iowa City West in a October 16 Homecoming gala, 41-0. Jefferson tamed the Kennedy Cougars, 41-6, with over 400 yards in total offense. Backed by four first half touchdowns the J-Hawks went on to buffalo the Bettendorf Bulldogs the next weekend, 35-0. The season finale against Davenport Central clinched a tie for second place in the Valley for the J-Hawks with a 35-6 victory.

Although considered by most to be just an exhibition before the varsity game or a side show on Saturday morning, sophomore football is tough. The team members are new to Jefferson football, but they learn fast. Coach Gary White sees to that. The awesome football machine of the J-Hawks is much different from junior high. Practices are long and hard but it is these practices that make a winning team. This year the sophs finished with a 7-2 record and a third place finish in the Mississippi Valley Conference. A large 56 man squad was led by the running of backs Marty Hale and Jim Dulin and the passing of quarterback Craig Wilford. The defense was handled by Jeff Athey, Howard Johnson, and Dale Wear. After wins over Dubuque Wahlert and Iowa City, the sophs bowed to Washington. They went on to defeat Clinton, Dubuque, Iowa City West, and Kennedy before losing to Bettendorf. The sophs finished their season by downing Davenport Central.

With apprehensions of a painful pulled muscle ever present, the squad diligently loosens up.

Girls joined their male counterparts as cross country took on a co-ed look this year. Strenuous practice enabled this year's male harriers to compile an 8-2 dual meet record. Captain Kevin Twiselton along with teammates Rod Adair and Rod Wise paced the J-Hawks to another city title. The team nabbed a distant sixteenth in the state meet, as Twiselton placed 22nd. He was named most valuable team member, while Adair was voted most improved. Girls cross country started off with 26 participants. However, other commitments forced many of the girls to drop off the team. Individuals did shine through in a winless season. One such girl was Donna Patten, sophomore. At this year's state meet at Adel, Donna finished 59th in a field of 140, to score well above other Cedar Rapids' opponents.

Girls meets were frequently held at scenic Noelridge Park.

Along with a 14-6 overall mark, the cagers finished second in the Valley behind Muscatine with a 10-4 record. The J-Hawks broke a three game losing streak by nipping the Muskies 55-53 on a last second jump shot by Brad Trickey. With a full head of steam, the J-Hawks rolled over Bettendorf, Kennedy, Clinton, Regis, Dubuque Hempstead and a road win at Dubuque along with a victory over city rival Washington. The cagers started tournament play against number 2 ranked LaSalle. Junior Rick Marsh hit a jump shot with 8 seconds remaining to give Jeff a 72-71 win. Kennedy was the next tournament foe as the J-Hawks bowed 83-78. Senior guard Brad Trickey, who averaged 20 points a game, was named to the All-State first team this year.

Speed, fine ball handling, and excellent shooting were all trademarks of the 1970-71 soph basketball team that captured the Valley title with a 12-2 record. The young J-Hawks opened their season with West Davenport and reeled off nine straight wins until Regis upset them 50-48. Center Craig Wilford led the team in scoring and rebounding while captain Dave Kuenzi paced the squad in assists. Wilford was voted the team's most valuable player and boasted a 17.3 average while forward Jim Dulin averaged 15.4 points a contest. The sophs broke two team records, tied four team marks, and broke two individual records. Scott Watson was voted best defensive player and Mark Malmer was selected as the player who contributed most to practice.

Records fell from the season's start as the 1970-71 gymnastics team never stumbled along the road to capturing Jeff's state gymnastics title. Hampered by sickness and injury, the gymnasts managed to squeak out several narrow victories against Washington, 117-115, and Kennedy, 98-97. Other opponents posed no real threat as the gymnasts won easily by 25 or 35 points to attain a 13-0 dual meet record. "Having depth as much as four men strong played a large part in our success this year," stated Mr. Tom Novak, gymnastics coach. And depth made an appearance February 20 at the state gym meet as Jefferson compiled an impressive 109 points to win the state championship hands down, with the nearest opponent tallying only 73 points. The gymnasts placed at least two men in every event and as many as four in the rings and long horse competition. Junior standout Terry Johnson captured four state titles including high bar, long horse, parallel bars, and all-around events.

Enthusiasm was the key word in the girls athletic program this year as dedicated gymnasts rose early in the morning to attend practices and a record number of females went out for swimming. Nineteen girls, coached by Mr. Tom Novak, attended practices at 7 a.m. on their way to compiling a 3-3 record. "This was the best year in the history of girls swimming," stated Coach Jim Taylor. The nucleus of the team was made up of ten girls. Standouts included diver Jenine Stastny and Becky Keown, 200 yard individual medley and butterfly specialist.

Records fell and times shattered as the swimmers produced some of the best statistics ever compiled by a Jefferson swim team. Dennis Barrett lowered his last year's record of 4:17.6 in the 400 yard freestyle event to 4:17.2 while Bob Wren set a school record in diving with 296.6 points. The 400 yard freestyle team, consisting of Glenn Fox, Bob Niehouse, Dennis Barrett, and Greg Neal, bettered their previous time of 3:37.2 by 2.2 seconds. Tankers found competition tough, however, as they ended up with a 5-8 dual meet record. ## After an opening loss to city rival Kennedy, the J-Hawk varsity wrestlers rolled over ten teams to settle for a share of the Mississippi Valley title with defending champ Washington. After the loss to the Cougars, the grapplers slipped by Clinton 23-16, then polished off Davenport West 40-6. A 33-15 win over Dubuque Senior and a 35-10 rout over Muscatine set the stage for a thrilling victory over the Bulldogs of Bettendorf. Heavyweight Kevin Wade brought the grapplers back from a 21-18 deficit in the final match with a 1:58 pin to give Jeff a 23-21 win over the Bulldogs. The next week against Iowa City, Wade provided the winning margin again by nipping his opponent 1-0 to give Jeff its sixth win. The J-Hawks crunched Dubuque Hempstead 40-7 the next week and then tipped previously undefeated Washington with a 23-18 victory. Enroute to a Mississippi Valley crown, Jefferson's sophomore wrestlers blistered many of their opponents by wide margins. It was a fine fitting for a team that finished with a 9-0 record and had two undefeated grapplers. The young J-Hawks strode by Kennedy and Clinton by scores of 38-10 and 27-17 to kick-off the season. In the last seven matches they whitewashed the opposition, starting with Dubuque by an eye-opening 50-0 count. Their next victim was Muscatine as Jeff pinned a 42-6 loss on the Muskies. The J-Hawks ripped Bettendorf 41-5 and shut-out Iowa City 44-0. With a full head of steam, the J-Hawks clubbed Dubuque Hempstead 39-7. Probably the finest showing of their perfect season was with Washington as Jeff blasted the Warriors 43-0. The finale with Iowa City West brought the J-Hawks their ninth win. Larry Harkness at 138 and Kent Miller at 145 finished the season with unbeaten records. Miller had seven pins on his way to compiling a 14-0 mark while Harkness shut-out five opponents in posting a 12-0 record.

Individual challenges before meets determined who would participate in varsity golf matches this spring. This year's edition of the boys' golf team featured four returning lettermen, Gary Reid, Tom Schamberger, Hardy Ulmet, and Steve Haether, all seniors. The boys' season was somewhat disappointing with two wins and ten losses but the girls' squad, consisting of eleven members, compiled a 4-5 record, according to Coach Dennis Ferreter. Hindered by a short practice schedule and some cancellations because of rainy weather, the girls experienced a trying season.

Track and field events have always provided Jefferson with proud moments. Names like Roloff, Doolin, Smittkamp, Burke, Wilson, Doty, Sedore, Chapin, Twisleton, Coquillette, and those of outstanding juniors, have become synonymous with first place this year. After a successful indoor season, the J-Hawks moved outside, often to battle the weather as well as the opponent and defeat them both. The Harriers compiled a massive collection of team victories, among them the city indoor meet, the city triangular, the J-Hawk Relays, Tri-state relays, the district championship, the conference crown, and other less important meets. A showdown in the state meet between Jeff and powerful Ames never really materialized as the J-Hawks were hindered by a lack of depth in the field events.

Sports history was made at Jefferson this year when the first girls track meet was held at Kingston Stadium. Under the heavy strain of push-ups, jumping-jacks, and mile-run warm-ups, the original 74 girls dwindled down to a brave 20. During their first year of competition only three inter-school meets were held. Following a disappointing loss to Washington by 2 points, and finishing last in the city triangular meet, the season ended with a 17-15 victory over Kennedy.

Playing a rigorous game of basketball is one phase of conditioning Coach Dennis Ellertson put his netters through nightly. With the help of three returning lettermen, the boys' squad racked up an impressive 11-4 record. The girls' team compiled a 10-3 tally under the guidance of Coach Ann Aswegan. The 21-member squad was paced by junior Linda Harney who occupied the number one position. The girls practiced two mornings a week and three days after school besides Saturday afternoon.

Finishing with a 15-3 spring record, Jefferson's baseballing J-Hawks captured the sectional title and compiled an eight game winning string before defending state champ Davenport Central stopped them in district play. A 6-4 loss to the Blue Devils put the J-Hawks out of the state title picture. Coach Vern Bredeson never would have thought his pitching staff would come through as it did. Hurlers Dan Dalziel, Mike Curran, Al Hayden, and Don Stepanek each pitched fine baseball throughout the spring campaign, with Curran throwing a no-hitter at Regis and Hayden firing a two-hitter at Cascade. Dalziel never allowed many hits in any game, while Stepanek spanked Regis with a no-hitter. The hitting is what puzzled Coach Bredeson. After a fine slugging team last season, the J-Hawks had a tough time buying base hits in their first few games.

Kolache Power

—a roaring chant raised high the heads of many Jefferson fans this season. Cheerleaders raised money for pompoms, new uniforms, and jackets to spur spirit at the Jeff-Wash football clash. Sixty players' houses were decorated as well as lockers and the locker room to help boost the team's morale. Throughout the year, mixers, decoration planning sessions, and button sales occupied many a cheerleader's "spare time."

In and out of the red weekly, Pep Club books were balanced by bake sales, summer car washes, and the selling of ice scrapers. These money raising projects collected funds to help pay for butcher paper, paint, and art supplies. The year's activities were planned at a pizza party at president Jeanine Snyder's home in September. Members modeled the latest attire during the fashion show in the Little Theatre to help raise money.

participated in exchange invitational nights with other local schools throughout the year. Games played included basketball, volleyball, and ping pong. The 30 girls sold sweat shirts and baked goods to help finance a trip to the Girls' State Basketball Tournament in March. While GRA girls participated in recreational activities, members of the Doll-Fin-Nettes worked hard on their annual synchronized swim show, "Under the Big Top." Many circus fetes were displayed including tight rope walking, a lion act, and aerialists.

FBLA started out this year by initiating 96 new members. Many activities including a potluck supper, guest speakers, and tours highlighted the year. One tour consisted of a trip downtown through the Merchant's National Bank building, and another involved a visit to Kirkwood Community College. The annual out of state tour was taken to Chicago this year. Visits to Chinatown and the viewing of the Broadway play "Promises, Promises" were two of the day's activities. In April, members attended the annual state leadership conference at Cedar Falls.

Office Education provided girls with practical on-the-job training experience for a future job as a stenographer. Units in calculating, filing, stencils, and various office machines increased the girls' business skills. Money raising projects, supervised by Mrs. Mary Harker, included the sale of candy, beaded wall plaques, and Valentine messages in February. To show their appreciation, the girls held an employer tea at the Roosevelt Hotel.

taught by Miss Lorraine Bomkamp is a work experience course intended to instruct seniors in clerical duties such as keypunch coding and edit-audit functions. The course prepares girls for future occupations in the business world after graduation. Girls attended morning classes and practiced skills learned at jobs each afternoon. ## Distributive Education and Trade & Industry are work experience programs set up not only to give credit to students for on-the-job training, but also to help students to understand the problems of the retailing industry. Participants in the program went on several field trips this year. DECA students journeyed to Waterloo to visit the Crossroads Shopping Center and Des Moines for the annual state leadership conference. A branch of the cooperative work education program, T & I provides boys and girls with employment at local industrial firms, plus a practical commercial education. In studying business and manufacturing, the class toured several local industries including Harnishfeger, Square D, and Turner's West.

Office, library

and lab assistants helped carry out the day-to-day routines to help make Jefferson run more efficiently. Office assistants performed essential tasks of running passes for office personnel, sorting out daily attendance cards, and delivering messages for the counselors. Nineteen library assistants helped Mrs. Anne Larson during their study halls by supervising the check out desk and reshelving returned books. Lab assistants were introduced this year to help science teachers by mixing basic solutions, correcting multiple choice tests, and supervising science experiments.

'Lights up' on every production found Thespians both in front of footlights and behind the scenes. Classed as both an honorary and active organization, the halfway road between bi-weekly meetings and no involvement was drawn. In late September, Thespians took a trip with troupes from Kennedy and Washington to the Guthrie Theatre in Minneapolis to see a production of "Venetian Twins." Chili Theatre Dinner, the annual Thespian variety show, was presented in early January. The theme, "The Roaring 20's," was highlighted by visits from Laurel and Hardy, Mae West, and W. C. Fields. Rounding out an active year, in April the troupe journeyed to Ames to view a traveling performance of "1776."

Chris Quinn's powerful interpretation of "My Lai Massacre" helped her capture third place in the state for dramatic acting.

Debate, extemporaneous speaking, oral interpretation, and original oratory were events which concerned members of the forensics team. Debaters ended the year on an impressive note with Chris Inskip, Harry Jarnagan, Chris Quinn, and Lynn Mulherin remaining undefeated.

Ushers Club

started off the year with approximately 60 members who volunteered their time to help with the collection of tickets. In order to assist audiences at Jefferson's drama productions, the seats in the auditorium were renumbered and the aisles were relettered. Each person who worked at a performance earned a free ticket. Miss Sandra Macy, ceramics instructor, was the group's adviser this year.

Jefferson Outlook

THOMAS JEFFERSON HIGH SCHOOL, CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA

Staff members retaliated when a rival's newspaper said derogatory things about the J-Hawks.

All-American has long been a term synonymous with star football players, country, and apple pie. However, this year the phrase again reflected the National Scholastic Press Association's rating of the Jefferson Outlook. The Outlook earned five marks of distinction and had a score of 3,860 out of a possible 3,950 points. "This is the highest rating the Outlook has ever received," noted Mr. Ronald Smrha, adviser. "We missed a perfect rating by just 90 points." In the 15 issues published this year, staff members wrote movie reviews ranging from "Love Story" to "The Owl and the Pussycat" and interpretative features on Janis Joplin, artificial turf, and high school marriages which sparked interesting comments from both the student body and faculty.

Serving as adviser to both the Outlook and Statesman finds Mr. Ron Smrha approving a newspaper layout between taking annual pictures.

Verifying the spelling of names is a time-consuming task for underclassman editors Lorraine Wood and Deb Punke.

Tootie Kintzel prowled the halls to promote Statesman sales.

An eighteenth birthday was turned into a gala celebration by friends of photographer Paul Jensen.

"I'd walk a mile for a 1971 Statesman," agrees yearbook editor Craig King.

Statesman staff

turned yearbook tradition upside down this year by producing a rather unconventional book. More time was spent working on the annual by a greater number of individuals than in the past, since two classes in yearbook design were offered for the first time. "Separate classes met first and fifth hour with a total enrollment of 25 students to publish what we hope will be Jeff's finest yearbook," stated Mr. Ronald Smrha, adviser. He feels the added pages, posterization, special effects, and colored photos will help improve the image presented to students.

Browsing through other yearbooks gave Rose Hayslett new ideas for the 1971 yearbook.

STATESMAN STAFF Front row: T. Angerer, K. Carstens, C. Filling, B. Thompson, D. Stastny, A. Shenenberger, D. Harvey, S. Aldrich, Mr. Smrha, adviser. Second row: P. Jensen, J. Wells, D. Punke, R. Hayslett, B. Ask, D. Patten, B. Chermak, L. Wood, T. Kintzel. Back row: R. Samek, C. King, K. Meisha, R. Robertson, L. Becicka, J. Wheeler.

Venture, Jeff's literary magazine, answered such questions as "Will the Messiah endorse Paul's bread factory?," "What is the truth behind love?," and "What really happened at My Lai?" The staff included more art work and actual photographs in this year's volume to supplement the literary selections. "This year," according to Mike Graham, editor, "the students displayed more feeling in their writing with a lot less of the class ring and candy striper material seen in previous issues."

Venture featured actual photographs of student art work this year.

Under The Big Top

From the first day when sophomores arrived on the scene . . . through the busy junior days of books and early morning meetings . . . to the final senior days of high school and graduation, J-Hawks are truly active individuals. Now that you've relived the many social activities, plays, athletics, and organizations of the J-Hawks, turn the book over and see the many faces who have made these events possible.

Another year has ended and with it the completion of another yearbook. But the individuals who put their time into this book hope it isn't just another yearbook. This 256 page giant is a book that was made possible by scheduling the yearbook staff into two daily classes. To the staff I would like to extend my sincere appreciation—especially Tootie Kintzel, Becky Ask, Janet Wells, and Connie Filling. Without them this annual would have been an impossibility. My thanks also go to Linda Petrzalek and Brian Schmitz, a couple of newspaper editors who were always willing to help out. Without the aid of Paul Jensen and his camera this yearbook wouldn't have gotten off the ground. The hours, worries, and gasoline he spent aren't countable and he, probably more than any single individual, made this book what it is. I would also like to thank Mr. Dave Solberg and Inter-Collegiate Press for their assistance. Last, but certainly not least, I would like to thank Mr. Ronald Smrha, our adviser. His guidance and creativity are the backbone of the '71 Statesman. I sincerely hope these pages bring many days of pleasure when thumbing through them in future years to recall how the bird lived this year.

Changes that came to Jeff this year will long be remembered in years to come by thumbing through this "Statesman." School can no longer pose as a buffer zone for seniors attempting to evade the world's problems. Graduates will now find the world to be a little less rosy than it appeared from inside the classroom. Now the world's protests, Viet Nam, and pollution will be dumped into their laps. Hopefully this life as a J-Hawk has prepared them for the changes in life since all must one day leave the nest and the bird's protection behind.

*The problem with the United States these days
The problems facing the United States today
The problem with the World is
Some of the problems with the World today are Let's face it, we're in trouble!*

Change was evident during the year which affected the bird's style of living. Liberalized dress codes took hold as girls turned to more casual attire of blue jeans and shirts. The student lounge turned into an honor area where seniors could talk freely and munch on their favorite snacks. The area came close to being shut down several times as litter was a continual problem. Student-teacher relationships were relaxed somewhat with meaningful discussions a familiar sight. Concerned individuals in fields of ecology, drugs, and women's lib visited Jeff to conduct impromptu rap sessions and some students found early marriage a way to break the humdrum of school life. Needless to say, these were times that tried even the bird's soul . . .

Swami's have delegated powers of the future but seniors play with fate. Nostalgic moments brought on many a silent thought and final events were enthusiastically attended. For cheerleaders it was the last game at which to cheer, to Thespian's a final curtain call, or to couples a last stroll down the hall. "Outlooks" can be found in many a scrapbook for seniors to linger through on a rainy afternoon. From the 624 seniors, standouts might be noted in Jan Shedeck, 1970 Homecoming queen, Brad Trickey, who excelled in sports, and Kristi Carlson, who designed numerous programs and posters. Class officers Dan Conway, president; Bob Cooper, vice president; Kris Fleck, secretary; and Barb Otten, treasurer, experienced the usual problems of financing the senior prom. Senior sponsored mixers, senate meetings, and graduation arrangements rounded out a busy schedule.

Juniors started their second year at Jeff by electing Dan Wullenwaber, president; Kim Wasson, vice president; Sue Wims, secretary; and Barb Thompson, treasurer. Stephanie Welton and Robbie Lanz, members of the class of 1972, became actively involved with the Mayor's Youth Council while Terry Johnson soared to fame by placing first in four events at the state gymnastics meet. Starting the school year short on funds and long on enthusiasm, the junior class held bake sales, car washes, and sold kolaches and pins to raise money for the prom, the final event of the year before ascending to the next rung on the "Ladder of Superiority."

During the hustle and bustle of the day, two sophomore girls find a place for quiet study in the Little Theatre.

After a lapse of two years, the sophomores —638 strong—revived the practice of selecting class officers. They elected Andy Sisler, president; Jed Fisk, vice-president; Kim Cocciola, secretary; and Rick Tierney, treasurer. Sophomore standouts included Jim Dulin, who soared to sophomore fame by his accomplishments in football, basketball, and track; Patti Biederman, the first sophomore girl to become a West Side Delegation member; and Gary Valenta, who captured second place in the National Junior Frisbee Championship in Las Vegas, Nevada. With added experience from their first year at Jefferson, the sophomores are rapidly ascending to the next rung on the "Ladder of Superiority."

Miss Barbara Maitland

Mr. Adalberto Rodriguez

Foreign language classes not only instruct students in the use of the language but also give them an insight into the customs and traditions that make-up the culture. Singing songs and playing games added a festive air to the learning process in Spanish classes. Planning, preparing, and the eating of a complete seven course meal highlighted the French IV class, while the Amana colonies were visited by the German IV students. Another popular elective, driver's education, restructured its class curriculum to allow more time for students to practice behind the wheel. The recent addition of the range, located at Kingston Stadium, helped instruct students in driving techniques.

Through the use of a teach-a-phone, Mr. Rodriguez teaches a shut-in Spanish student.

An amusing classroom incident provokes a topic for discussion in Miss Maitland's second year French class.

Mrs. Anne Bauer

Mr. McNiel chats with his brother Bob during intermission of the district wrestling meet at Iowa City West.

Mr. Bill McNiel

Preparing for jobs after graduation, students gained practical experience through a variety of business courses. Being introduced to adding machines, calculators, and transcribing machines added interest to Mrs. Miriam Shipman's clerical practice class. Business law helped clear the confusion surrounding income tax as Mr. Jay Gross' students learned how to complete 1040 forms. By calling a number at the school board, shorthand students practiced taking dictation over the telephone.

Female invasion into the man's world of cars, grease, printing, and skills of a handyman were initiated this year. Approximately 12 girls broke the tradition of an all-male industrial arts department. One semester classes and added space for the electronics lab were brought about by the increased enrollment of students into the program.

Arts— not only a 700 section in the CMC—but also on display in the three departments of home economics, art, and music. Getting to know each other through home visits was Miss Mary Patrick's innovation for a more personalized classroom. Sewing of lingerie, bathing suits, and knits were demonstrated to students to keep up with the current fashion trend. Miss Sandra Macy, ceramics instructor, taught students to mix clay, pull handles, and throw pots. The Music Horizons class composed short commercials to sell concert choir candy while girls choir changed its name to the contemporary Hilltop singers.

Mini teachers

sometimes found the art of instructing their peers a tedious task. Experience in this line of work was intended to encourage further study in the teaching of physical education. Co-ed sports expanded this year, according to Mr. Jim Voss, department chairman, as evidenced in volleyball classes. Traditional studies in medical self help and first aid awaited juniors and sophomores were greeted with the familiar "sink or swim" advice. Seniors completed their physical education requirement by selecting their favorite sports.

"Check out your mind and look at who you are" is Mr. Pilling's philosophy.

Juniors were no longer required to take World Cultures, since it was dropped from the list of required social study classes. Instead the course was revised into six subtopic areas which were offered as one semester electives. Varying interests were explored with the introduction of Social Science and Human Behavior, European Civilization, and Contemporary American Problems. These added electives gave students a broader selection of courses from which to choose the area most suited to their individual interests.

Local theatres

assisted social studies classes in the understanding of ideas and incidents that influenced American history. In order to understand the difference between democracy and communism, Comparative Government classes viewed "Dr. Zhivago" and American Studies students saw "Tora, Tora, Tora," to witness events which led to the bombing of Pearl Harbor. Mr. Dennis Ellertson helped students prepare a survey in a new course, Analysis of Media Information. Contemporary American Problems touched upon many controversial subjects such as poverty, pollution, and civil rights that have become very much a part of American society.

Dissected frogs—chemical bombs—pricked fingers. Changes in the science department this year led to a more diversified and interesting curriculum. Advanced Biology, a new course, instructed students on topics ranging from mouse anatomy to microbiology during six week blocks. A modular type system was initiated for science class with the students revolving to different teachers for various subtopics in the science field.

1-2 buckle my shoe, 3-4 shut the door, 5-6 pick up sticks . . . Courses offered in mathematics this year ranged from the structure of modern geometry, algebra, and trigonometry to proofs, number systems, and probability. In addition, a course on arithmetic and applications of mathematics in everyday life was provided for non-college bound students. Contributing ideas and techniques to the department were two new teachers, Mrs. Miriam Pederson and Miss Joann Gerdes. Students in advanced algebra and trigonometry used the packet system whereby each student worked individually according to his own speed and ability. Miss Mary Rickey arranged her geometry classes by test scores in order to give more individual attention.

Language Arts

students found that learning is not always done only in the classroom. Sophomores viewed "Wuthering Heights," Mrs. Ann Aswegan's students went horseback riding one day, and several other students toured the Masonic Library. Popular Lit students studied "Sunshine City," a book dealing with the problems of education in the slums.

Staff members learn the fundamentals of layout design in Mr. Smrha's publication's design course.

Mrs. Alma Brouwer

Mr. Tom Campbell

Writing lab students learn to use specific and concrete details from Miss Biggers.

Mrs. Bettye Cleveland

Mr. John Carlson

Mr. Robert Geuder

Individual instruction was the key word for renovation of the language arts program. Already Jefferson's largest academic department, the language arts teachers tried to interest more students by offering courses designed to meet individual needs. Literature of Social Understanding and Language in Human Relations were two new electives which sparked student interest. Directed Individualized Reading, started last year, proved to be the most popular language arts course this year.

Mr. Gary Cronkhite and Mrs. Ester Bender are pictured doing their thing "American Gothic" style.

Tripping out on education is the likely thing to do in the CMC—for teacher associates their day is filled with study halls jammed with students. Teacher aids performed primarily clerical functions while teacher associates supervised student structured time as well as helped with classes. Mrs. Michelle Jolley, CMC associate, helped enforce supervision in the CMC as part of her daily routine. Innovations this year included opening the CMC for student study on Monday and Thursday evening, providing statues for loan, and permitting students to request materials for purchase.

Computer programming, designed to aid in student scheduling, had its drawbacks this year resulting in a mix-up of many students class schedules. Counselors were pressed with the burden of changing schedules, rearranging classes, and setting up appointments with representatives for college bound students. Office personnel continued their routine duties, which range from typing to bookkeeping, in addition to helping the administration locate missing students. To help reduce excessive absenteeism, homeroom was changed from 8:20 a.m. to 10:20 a.m. this year. Another change took place at Jefferson when Doug Gerber, security guard, was assigned to help stop vandalism in the gym parking lot. However, freezing temperatures and blizzard conditions forced him inside to patrol the halls for skippers.

Typing, filing, and answering phones are some of the important secretarial duties performed by Mrs. Wanda Ribble, Mrs. Mary Jane Koutny, and Mrs. Carolee Wilford.

Security guard Doug Gerber confronts a truant student in the hall.

Between classes Mr. Pilling confers with Mr. Siddens.

September witnessed the arrival at Jefferson of approximately 2,000 "Peterson people"—the type of person who's alive, active, and loyal to the blue and white. Responsibility was the key word for Mr. William P. Peterson, principal, and his two new assistants, Mr. Robert Siddens and Mr. William Jacobson. The administration's liberalized policy opened its second year with rearranged student structured time periods. Students could select quiet study, the dining room talk hall, or old time flicks in room 227. Opportunity for seniors to have a leisurely hour in the student lounge required only an honor pass from Mr. Jacobson. Theft and truancy in the parking lot were decreased by the new security officer.

Mr. Peterson accepts the state gymnastics trophy from Roger Miller.

Mr. Clarence Paulson
Administrative Assistant

One of the many roles of a principal is answering questions of concerned PTA members.

Supervising card playing in the foyer is one of Mr. Jim Goforth's duties.
