Justin Decker just wrapped up his seventh year as the Head Boys basketball coach at Washington High School. In the past few years the warrior basketball team has been on the rise. The last 3 years they have finished with winning records and the past two season have made it to the substate finals. Prior coming to Washington, Decker spent 5 years as the associate head basketball coach at Coe College. While at Coe College he finished in the top 3 of the Iowa Conference 4 of his 5 years there. Prior to working at Coe, Decker spent three years as the head assistant at Cornell College. In 2008-09 the Rams won the school's first IIAA Tournament championship in school history for any male sport, earning their first NCAA Tournament berth in 15 years. In his collegiate years, Decker played four seasons at Cornell. He was a two-time academic All-Iowa Conference selection and the team captain his senior season. Decker has over ten years of summer camp experience including working camps at Washington High School, Coe College, Cornell College, and the Citadel.
